Changing, changing; everchanging
 Like the phases of the moon
 Changing, changing; life is changing
 Ever near, ever soon

There's a woman in the moon
I can see her when she's whole
And she's bright
She's the moon
And deep as the sea
And soft and strong as can be

Changing, changing; ever changing
 Like the ripples on the sea
 Changing, changing; life is changing
 For the sea and me

There's a woman in the sea
I can hear her when she's whole
And she's bright as the moon
And deep, she's the sea
And strong and soft as can be

Changing, changing; ever changing
Like the river and it's flow
Changing, changing; life is changing
Giving time to grow

And the woman deep in me
Is a river inside my soul
And it's bright as the moon
And deep as the sea
And strong and soft and whole.

There's a woman
in the moon
There's a woman
in the sea
There's a woman
inside.

Hollins Abroad London

The City of London was the college campus 28 Hollins women knew last fall. Another 25 will enjoy this experience this spring, as the young Abroad program began its third year under a new director, former Dean John P. Wheeler.

Classes geared towards taking advantage of being in the famous city, travel, and cultural exchange were the highpoints of the semesters.

Both term's groups, when back in the quiet green of the home campus, will no doubt have fond memories of living together in the Victorian 48 Nevern Square. Encounters with the natives in group activities, like trips to the country and Tinker Day in Cambridge, Earl's Court, the theatre and restaurants; those busy, busy London streets . . .

J.S.

PARIS is a city of symbols. The Eiffel Tower, Notre Dame, and the Arc de Triomphe are but some of the grand monuments that represent the historical and proud Paris. Tourists are drawn here from all points of the Earth. They come to sip wine in outdoor cafes, to walk along "grand boulevards" lined with boutiques and pastry shops, to explore the artistic and cultural treasures housed in the Louvre, to observe or join the bohemian night life said to last through morning.

However true this image may be, it is simply a facade. As one becomes immersed in the flow of life around her, she begins to perceive the spirit of the city. Every sense is active: the hum of the French voice providing an almost musical background, the smell of the Seine bringing natural life within the bounds of the city, the marvelous variety of an open-air market, its freshness free for the tasting, and the foreign gestures and expressions unique to the French people.

The synthesis of these sensations transcends one's physical awareness of Paris, leads one to an almost spiritual perception of its soul. With this personal understanding comes the feeling that Paris is "yours," and does not erode with time. Each Hollins abroad came to know her own Paris, and doubtless the process will continue with each new group. This is what makes the experience personal and the memory special — that it is unstructured, unphotographed and invisible to anyone but you.

The plan and policy of this school recognizes the principle that in the present state of society in our country young women require the same thorough and rigid mental training as that afforded to young men.

Meanwhile, whether combined or individual, whether in the hands of one staff or a score, so long as she shall be . . . it is her purpose to offer her best efforts to the world, with the sincere hope that each reader may find in her pages some striking idea, some genial thought, or some pleasing recollection.

THE YEAR

There is an endless procession of generations that is passing through Hollins' gates — coming in full of wonder concerning the career just ahead, bringing fresh life and new ideas — remaining four years' time, becoming more and more enriched with the experience of being citizens of a school which sets as one of its goals the achievement of beautiful young womanhood — then passing out again through those same gates, taking the many valuable treasures of mind, soul and body that have been gained.

SGA ELECTIONS

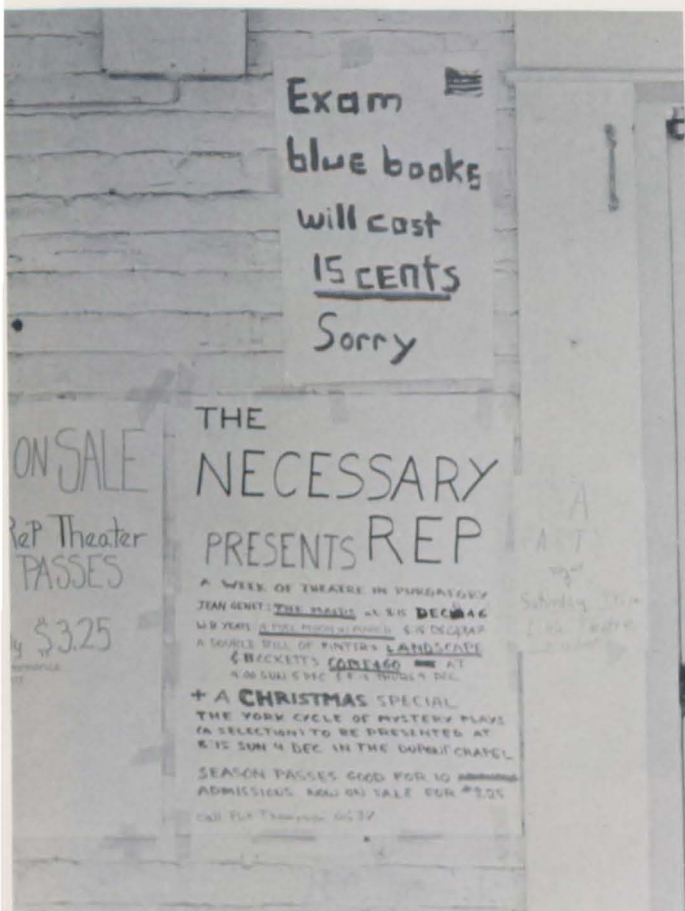

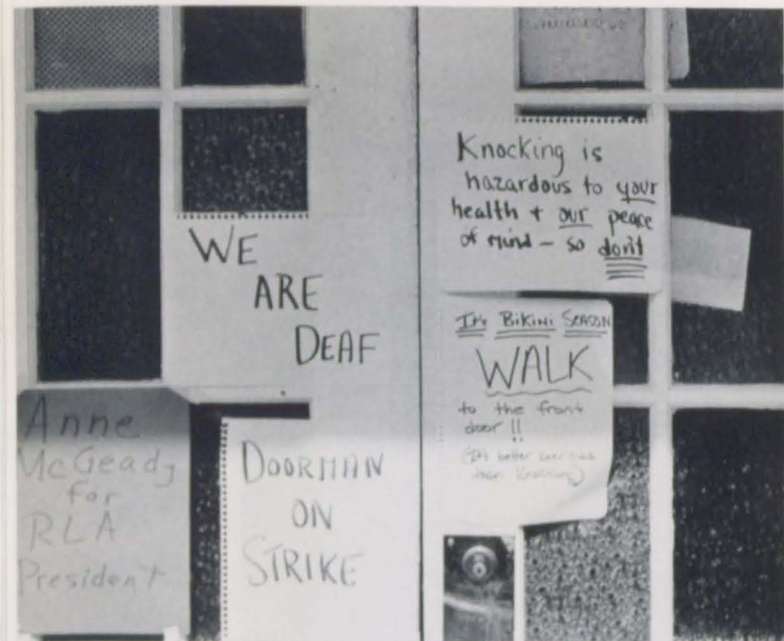

I was warned as a child of thirteen
 Not to act too strong
 Try to look like you belong
 But don't push, girl
 Save your time and trouble
 Don't misbehave.

I was raised in a "no you don't" world
 Overrun with rules
 Memorize your lines and move as directed
 That's an age old story
 Everybody knows that's a worn out song.

But you and I are changing that tune
 We're learning new rhythms from the woman
 I said the woman in the moon.
 Little sister, little brother
 Keep on pushing
 Don't believe a word about
 Things you've heard about
 Asking too much too soon.

'Cause they can
hold back the tide,
But they can never
Hold a woman
In the moon.

I believe there's
A best of both world's;
Mixing
Old and new,

Recognizing change is seldom expected
 As I long suspected
 They believed that strange was a word for wrong
 Well, not in my song.
 'Cause you, you and I, are changing that tune

We're learning new rhythms from that woman in the moon.
 Little sister, little brother,
 Keep on pushing
 Don't believe a word about
 Things you've heard about
 Asking too much too soon.

'Cause they can hold back the tide
But they can never hold the woman
I said a woman in the moon.

— P. Williams, K. Asher

It was the best of times
It was the worst of times
It was the age of wisdom
It was the age of foolishness
It was the epoch of belief
It was the season of light
It was the season of darkness
It was the winter of despair
It was the spring of hope
